MESSAGE FROM THE PASTOR / MENSAJE DEL PÁRROCO

While the Easter season is a fifty-day feast, the first eight days (called the Easter Octave) are celebrated as Easter Day itself. During each day of the Octave, the Gospel is taken from one of the resurrection accounts, the Gloria is sung, the preface to the Eucharistic Prayer praises God “on this day . . . when Christ our Passover has been sacrificed,” and the dismissal with the double alleluia is used.

Today, the Second Sunday of Easter concludes the Easter Octave. The Gospel, taken from John 20, is the first appearance of Jesus to the apostles after his resurrection. His first words to his Mientras que la temporada de Pascua es una fiesta de cincuenta días, los primeros ocho días (llamados la Octava de Pascua) se celebran como el mismo Día de Pascua. Durante cada día de la Octava, el Evangelio está tomado de uno de los relatos de la resurrección, se canta el Gloria, el prefacio de la Plegaria Eucarística exalta a Dios “en este día....cuando Cristo, nuestra Pascua, ha sido sacrificado.” y se usa la despedida con el doble aleluia.

Hoy, el Segundo Domingo de Pascua, concluye la Octava Pascual. El Evangelio, tomado de Juan 20, es la primera aparición de Jesús a los apóstoles después de su resurrección. Sus primeras palabras a sus amigos friends are “Peace be with you,” which he repeats. When he appears again the following week, he uses the same greeting: “Peace be with you.”

While Jesus’ victory over sin and death certainly brings peace—in the sense of tranquility and serenity—to his disciples and us, it also brings peace in the sense of communion (literally union with). Jesus’ resurrection from the dead reestablishes and strengthens the bonds of unity between himself and us—and among us—that were broken by sin and betrayal. In his mercy, the Risen Lord has “restored our life” and is the reason we are “overcome with paschal joy” (Preface I for Easter).

son “La Paz sea con vosotros”, que repite. Cuando aparece de nuevo la semana siguiente, él usa el mismo saludo: “La Paz sea con vosotros.”

Mientras que la victoria de Jesús sobre el pecado y la muerte ciertamente trae paz—en el sentido de tranquilidad y serenidad—a sus discípulos y a nosotros, también trae paz en el sentido de comunión (literalmente unión con). La resurrección de Jesús de entre los muertos restablece y refuerza los lazos de unión entre él y nosotros—y entre nosotros—que fueron rotos por el pecado y la traición. En su misericordia, el Señor Resucitado ha “restaurado nuestra vida” y es la razón por la que estamos “abrumados con alegría paschal”. (Prefacio I para Pascua).

Padre Juan

Attention, Cathedral Medical Professionals

The Cathedral of the Annunciation is calling all doctors, nurses, pharmacists, respiratory therapists et al. to put our healing gifts at the service of our fellow parishioners.
